It Didn’t Need You To Notice

It didn’t need you
to notice.

It wasn’t waiting
for your attention.

Didn’t depend
on being seen.

Didn’t change
because you looked.

It remained
as it was.

You thought
your seeing completed it.

Like it became real
when you noticed.

But it didn’t.

It was already
fully there.

You were never required.